

Terms and Conditions for Dile Members

Although we don't want to have a long list of terms and conditions for use of this site, the following are those which you are asked to note:

- All data collected on this site is stored securely and will never be used other than for The Dile to make contact with you, such as sending out our monthly newsletter.
- ADI numbers are required for membership as we want to be sure all members are qualified Approved Driving Instructors. We do not wish to unwittingly assist unregistered individuals to attract paying customers, by making reference to the knowledge they have acquired through this site.
- Currently membership is monthly, paid by PayPal recurring payments. If you no longer wish to continue with your membership, please ensure you cancel before the start of the following month. No refund of payments made will be given.
- Annual payments will be introduced at a later date, offering a reduction on the monthly fee, and will also be on a recurring basis, so you will need to ensure you cancel your membership in good time if you no longer wish to continue.
- The Dile takes no responsibility for the quality of any of the trainers on the site, however we do try to ensure that those who deliver webinars, and offer offline training for instructors, are of the highest calibre we can find. Any complaints should be dealt with between yourself and the trainer concerned, as The Dile will not become involved in this, although we would appreciate knowing if you do have a complaint.
- All material on this site is copyright of The Dile or the contributors who uploaded content to the site. Such content may be used for your CPD but must not be copied and added to websites, or other media, without reference to the author, i.e. it must not lead others to believe it is your own original material.
- The Dile is here to serve you, our members and our contributor members. If you have a complaint about our service, please tell us so we have the chance to put it right, rather than complain to others without letting us know there is a problem.
- We want to bring the very best trainers and course providers to you, so if you know of someone you would like to see on the site, please do let us know.
- We will endeavour to offer at least 2 webinars per month, ensuring a mix of training, business and personal topics. Webinar dates will be published on the site, with the link to register for each one, after which you will receive your link to join the live webinar. However, dates and times may well change, so please ensure you check back regularly on the site.
- Inevitably there will be times when a webinar is cancelled. This is beyond our control and so we accept no responsibility for lessons cancelled by you if a webinar does not then go ahead. However, this should only be in rare circumstances as every effort will be made to ensure any necessary cancellations are given with adequate notice.
- It is our policy that only real names are to be used on the forum. All members must be up front with who they are when posting comments on this site.